SES Lightning Talks Series: Cycles that Connect Us

Wednesday, February 28, 2018

4:00-5:30 p.m.

*Location: Integrated Learning Center (ILC) S240
Open to all*

Next up in the SES Lightning Talks Series is an exciting lineup of faculty who study cycles from micro to macro scales. In an electrifying format of speedy presentations, faculty will take us on a tour of their research. We will follow them from microbes to ecosystems. In a short hour and a half, you will learn about cycles in landscapes, fisheries, crop systems, marine hydrothermal vents, and urban ecosystems.

It is sure to be an engaging event - we hope you will join us!
